

13. Decapitation

The moon, a polished scimitar,¹⁰
Upon a black and silken cushion,
So strangely large hangs menacing
Through sorrow's gloomy night.
Pierrot wandering restlessly
Stares upon high in anguished fear
Of the moon, the polished scimitar
Upon a black and silken cushion,
Like leaves of aspen are his knees,
Swooning he falters, then collapses.
He thinks: the hissing, vengeful steel
Upon his neck will fall in judgement,
The moon, a polished scimitar.

14. The Crosses

Holy crosses are the verses
Where the poets bleed in silence,
Blinded by the peck of vultures
Flying round in ghostly rabble.
On their bodies swords have feasted,
Bathing in the scarlet bloodstream.
Holy crosses are the verses
Where the poets bleed in silence.
Death then comes; dispersed the ashes—
Far away the rabble's clamour,
Slowly sinks the sun's red splendour,
Like a royal crown of glory.
Holy crosses are the verses.

15. Nostalgia

Sweetly plaintive is the sigh of crystal
That ascends from Italy's old players,
Sadly mourning that Pierrot so modern
And so sickly sentimental is now.
And it echoes from his heart's waste desert,
Muted tones which wind through all his senses,
Sweetly plaintive, like a sigh of crystal
That ascends from Italy's old players.
Now abjures!¹¹ Pierrot the tragic manner,
Through the pallid fires of lunar landscape
mounts the longing,
Surging high towards his native heaven.
Sweetly plaintive, like a sigh of crystal.

16. Atrocity

Through the bald pate¹² of Cassander,

19. Serenade

The moonbeam is the rudder,
Nenuphar serves as boat.
To Bergamo, his homeland,
Pierrot returns once more.
Soft gleams on the horizon
The orient green of dawn.
The moonbeam is the rudder.

21. 0 Ancient scent

With a giant bow grotesquely
Scrapes Pierrot on his viola;
Like a stork on one leg standing
Sadly plucks a pizzicato.
Now here comes Cassander fuming
At this night-time virtuoso.
With a giant bow grotesquely
Scrapes Pierrot on his viola;
Casting then aside the viola,
With his delicate left hand he
Grips the bald pate by the collar—
Dreamily he plays upon him
With a giant bow grotesquely.

20. Journey Home

The moonbeam is the rudder,
Nenuphar¹⁴ serves as boat
On which Pierrot goes southward,
The wind behind his sails,
In deep tones hums the river
And rocks the light canoe,

O ancient scent from far-off days
Intoxicate me again.
Now all my sorrow is dispelled,
And from my sun-encircled casement¹⁵
I view again the lovely world
And dream beyond the fair horizon.
O ancient scent from far-off days

21. Parody

Knitting needles, bright and polished,
Set in her greying hair,
Sits the Duenna,¹³ mumbling,
In crimson costume clad.
She lingers in the arbour,
Knitting needles, bright and polished,
Set in her greying hair,
But, listen, what a whisper,
A zephyr titters softly;
The moon, the wicked mocker,
Now mimics with light rays
Bright needles, spick and span.

18. The Moonfleck

With a snowy fleck of shining moonlight
On the shoulder of his black silk frock-coat
So walks out Pierrot this languid evening.
Seeking every where for love's adventure.
But what! something wrong with his appearance?
He looks round and round and then he finds it—
Just a snowy fleck of shining moonlight
On the shoulder of his black silk frock-coat.
Wait now (thinks he) 'tis a piece of plaster,
Wipes and wipes, yet cannot make it vanish.
So he goes on poisoned with his fancy,
Rubs and rubs until the early morning
Just a snowy fleck of shining moonlight.

6. Madonna

Rise, O mother of all sorrows,
From the alter of my verses!

Blood pours forth from thy lean bosom
Where the sword of frenzy pierced it.

Thy forever gaping gashes

Are like eyelids, red and open.
Rise, O mother of all sorrows,

From the alter of my verses.

In the lacerated arms

Holdst thou thy Son's holy body,
Manifesting Him to mankind—

Yet the eyes of men avert themselves,
O mother of all sorrows!

7. The Ailing Moon

You ailing, death-awaiting moon,
High upon heaven's dusty couch,

Your glance, so feverish overlarge,
Lures me, like strange enchanting song,

With unrequited pain of love

You die, your longing deep concealed,
You ailing, death-awaiting moon,

High upon heaven's dusty couch.

The lover, stirred by sharp desire

Who reckless seeks for love's embrace

Exults in your bright play of light

Your pale and pain-begotten flood,

You ailing, death-awaiting moon.

8. Night

Heavy, gloomy giant black moths

Massacred the sun's bright rays;

Like a close-shut magic book

Broods the distant sky in silence.

From the mists in deep recesses

Rise up scents, destroying memory.

Heavy, gloomy giant black moths

Massacred the sun's bright rays;

And from heaven earthward bound

Downward sink with sombre pinions⁷

Unperceived, great hordes of monsters

On the hearts and souls of mankind...

Heavy, gloomy giant black moths.

9. Prayer to Pierrot

Pierrot! my laughter have I unlearnt!
⁷pinion: 1. wing; 2. feather, quill

sharlot: prostitute

⁹paramour: an illicit lover.

¹⁰scimitar: a short, curved sword with an edge on the convex side, used chiefly by Turks, Arabs, etc.

The picture's brightness dissolves.

Black flies the standard now from my mast,
Pierrot, my laughter have I unlearnt

O once more give me, healer of spirits,
Snowman of lyrics, monarch of moonshine,
Pierrot, my laughter!

1. Moondrunk

The wine which through the eyes we drink
Flows nightly from the moon in torrents,

And as a spring-tide overflows
The far and distant land.

Desires terrible and sweet
Unnumbered drift in floods abounding,

The wine which through the eyes we drink
Flows nightly from the moon in torrents.

The poet, in an ecstasy,
Drinks deeply from the holy chalice,¹

To heaven lifts up his entranced
Head, and reeling quaffs and drains down

The wine which through the eyes we drink.

2. Colombine

The pallid² buds of moonlight
Those pale and wondrous roses

Bloom in the nights of summer—
O could I pluck but one!

My heavy heart to lighten,
I search in darkling river

The pallid buds of moonlight,
Those pale white wondrous roses.

Fulfilled would be my longing
If I could softly gather,

With gentle care besprinkle
Upon your dark brown tresses

The moonlight's pallid blossoms.

3. The Dandy

A phantasmagoria³ light ray
Illumines tonight all the crystalline flasks

On the holy, sacred, ebony wash-stand
Of the taciturn dandy of Bergamo.⁴

In sonorous bronze-enwrought chalce

Laughs brightly the fountain's metallic sound,

Like a lingering drop of blood!

¹chalce: cup, goblet.

²pallid: faint in color, pale, wan

³phantasmagoria: a rapidly changing series of things seen or imagined, as the figures or events of a dream.

⁴Bergamo: comune northern Italy in Lombardy Nf. of Milan.

⁵chlorosis: a kind of anemia sometimes affecting girls at puberty and causing the skin to run a greenish color.

⁶consumptive: a person who has tuberculosis of the lungs.

The picture's brightness dissolves.

Black flies the standard now from my mast,
Pierrot, my laughter have I unlearnt

O once more give me, healer of spirits,
Snowman of lyrics, monarch of moonshine,
Pierrot, my laughter!

10. Loot

Ancient royalty's red rubies,
Bloody drops of antique glory,

Slumber in the hollow coffins,
Buried in the vaulted caverns,

Late at night with boon companions

Pierrot descends to ravish

Ancient royalty's red rubies.

Bloody drops of antique glory.

But there every hair a-bristle,

Livid fear turns them to statues;

Through the murky gloom, like eyes—

Glaunting from the hollow coffins

Ancient royalty's red rubies.

11. Red Mass

To fearsome grim communion

Where dazzling rays of gold gleam.

And flickering light of candles,

Comes to the alter Pierrot.

His hand, with grace invested,

Rends through the priestly garments,

For fearsome grim communion

Where dazzling rays of gold gleam.

With signs of benediction

He shows to frightened people

The dripping crimson wafers.

His heart—with bloody fingers

In fearsome grim communion.

12. Song of the Gallows

The haggard harlot with scraggy gizzard

Will be his ultimate paramour.⁹

Through all his thoughts there sticks like a gimlet

The haggard harlot with scraggy gizzard.

Thin as a rake, round her neck a pigtail,

joyfully will she embrace the rascal,

The haggard harlot!
